NEWPORT CHIEF CAPTURES FIVE ALLEGED THIEVES

Clever Detective Work of Ora A. Swett Causes Big Round-up

As the result of the vigilance of Chief of Police Ora A. Swett, five men are in Orleans County jail, charged with the theft of a Jordan seven-passenger touring car. The alleged thieves gave their names as follows: James Schadly, West Newton, Mass.; Joseph Costa Miller, South Dakota; William Hall, West Somerville, Mass.; George Mason, colored, Boston, Mass., and Royal Haig Sulam, N. H.

The men were first seen by Chief Swett near Lake Willoughby on Tuesday evening. He intimated to Frank Wheeler at the time that he suspected them of either snuggling house or stealing a car. He catalogued their faces and when he saw them later, he was able to recognize them.

At North Troy the car was sold by the man to Henry Parkhurst for a consideration of $500 in cash. A Jordan of the model mentioned retails for $1,000. According to the story told Mr. Parkhurst, the men said they had had a car seized with a load of intoxicating beverage and that they were obliged to dispose of the

POLLI TWIRLS NO RUN GAME AS FAIRBANKS WINS

St. Johnsbury Lads Hit Timely and Pile Up Six Runs

Americus Polli, who established a remarkable record as a strike out pitcher while playing with Goddard Seminary at Barre during the school season just closed, demonstrated his ability as a hurler by shutting out the Lyndonville team on the latter's grounds Thursday afternoon while his team piled up six big runs. Incidentally this was the Ville's second defeat at the hands of St. Johnsbury this year.

Polli was in rare form and the best the Lyndonville stickers could do was to garner six scattered hits, two of them of the scratch variety.

Behind the Italian's air tight pitching, the Fairbanks' fielders played an excellent game, only two misuses being made.

Polli left no doubt in the minds of those fans present as to his staying qualities and his ability to maintain his equilibrium while under fire.

Twice during the afternoon's performance the husky youngster pulled out of precarious situations, refusing to allow the home team a score. Polli has an unusual delivery and puts every hit he has into the pellet before it starts for the plate.

In spite of his defeat Kelley, the Lebanon, N. H. pitcher, is deserving of credit for his mound work.

He was unfortunate enough to allow the Fairbanks boys to bunch hits in one inning while his free pass to Connor and a base walked by Starr accounted for another earned run.

He is a twirler of average ability, his "big hit" being a one-eveing hook, which was the cause of several St. Johnsbury athletes hurting at the thin air.

To reverse Kelley's offerings was a young fellow by the name of Woodbury, said also to have from Lebanon, and he held the speed artist in a fine manner, missing few of the fast ones and allowing but one man to steal.

Berne Starr experienced little difficulty in holding the terrific speed of Polli and the Lyndonville base runners early learned that the little back stop possessed a "wicked arm." Only once did a man steal on him. His fine work in stopping Martin's equally fine throws from left field in the first inning was one of the big factors in the game as a one run lead would have looked big in such a close game, where goose eggs were run up on both sides for five solid frames.

Maser had a perfect day at third, accepting four chances without an error. He caught two flies and stopped two deceiving grounders, making practically perfect plays to Morrison. Peppery Dutek Richelli at short was guilty of only one miscue and that a wholly excusable one. He was credited with two assists. This little Ital-

MRS. STETSON GETS $4,500 IN AUTO CASE

Several State Cases Disposed of In County Court

These are muggy days in court and every one connected with it, from the judges on the bench to the hard-listening spectators, feels the effects of the weather. Thursday afternoon when members of the bench abandoned their coats and lawyers argued and juries listened in their shirt-sleeves one sticker for propriety remarked that the proceedings were ungodly. Then recited the appropriate reply of the late Marshall Montgomery on one occasion, when he said, "This court is for justice and comfort, never mind dignity."

The case of Mrs. Hattie E. Stetson of St. Johnsbury against the Park-Yeung company to recover damages of $50,000 as a result of an accident at Lyndonville, Dec. 2, 1920, went to the jury at 4:30 Thursday afternoon after a strenuous trial of several days duration.

David Eastman of Groton was appointed foreman of the jury. Deputy Sheriff B. M. Bundy of Sutton was in charge of the jury. At the opening of court Friday morning the jury returned a verdict for Mrs. Stetson to recover $4,500.

The case was brought to recover damages by Mrs. Stetson when riding in the Buick car of her son, Dr. Harry Stetson when it collided with the defendant's five ton truck.

The plaintiff's testimony tended to show that Dr. Stetson was running slow when the collision occurred and the truck turned into the road and struck the defendant's evidence was just the opposite and attempted to prove that the collision was caused by the Stetson car's skidding and hitting the truck and throwing Mrs. Stetson down the bank, breaking her leg and causing other injuries. The accident occurred between the railroad tracks and bridge at Folson's Crossing.

The case was hard fought by the attorneys at every step. Seavers and Graves represented the plaintiff and D. E. Porter, and Sargent and Leavens of Ludlow, the defendant.

Two state cases were disposed of Thursday afternoon.

Mrs. Martha Blodgett of St. Johnsbury pleaded guilty of a breach of the peace and was sentenced to a month in county jail. She has been there awaiting trial since the first of March.

William Hughes of St. Johnsbury pleaded guilty to a breach of the peace and was fined $50 and BELFAST, June 24—Three soldiers and a train guard were killed and some twenty soldiers and an assistant train guard, were injured when a troop train, carrying soldiers from Belfast to Dublin, was wrecked by the explosion of two Sinn Fein land mines at Abernay, near Dundalk today.

Two trains with soldiers and horses who had participated in the reception of King George and Queen Mary on the state opening of the Ulster Parliament Wednesday had passed over the spot safely. The third train was wrecked at a steep embankment when the mine exploded. Most of the carriages fell over the embankment.
